Velocity AVS expands, adds office space to San Diego facility

San Diego, Calif. (January 8, 2008) – Velocity AVS, San Diego’s premier owner-operated audio visual company serving corporate and non-profit organizations nationwide, has expanded its office and warehouse space to accommodate its growing business and new high definition offerings. The company has added 30 percent more space to its facility in Kearny Mesa to house its growing business and inventory.

“Expanding our facilities enables us to grow to meet our clients’ needs and stay on the leading edge of providing state-of-the-art products and services,” said Toby Russell, managing partner for Velocity AVS. The office expansion accommodates the company’s move to high definition products and services for the rental, staging and special events markets.

A 2007 recipient of the San Diego Better Business Bureau Torch Award for marketplace ethics, Velocity AVS was established in 1999 when San Diego natives and industry frontrunners Toby Russell and Dave Howell merged their businesses. Velocity is the in-house AV provider for the Dana on Mission Bay and is an active member of Meeting Planners International, the International Special Events Society, The San Diego Convention & Visitors Bureau and the Greater Phoenix Convention and Visitors Bureau.
